

NII HOLDINGS, INC.

NII Holdings, Inc., a publicly held company based in Reston, Va., is a provider of differentiated mobile communication services for businesses and high value consumers in Latin America.

NII was first launched as the international business unit of Nextel Communications, Inc., after McCaw International, Ltd., Nextel Communication's wholly owned subsidiary, changed its name to Nextel International, Inc and introduced its National Network in the United States in 1997. Following the establishment of operations in Sao Paulo, Brazil in the same year, NII has been operating and expanding its business under the Nextel brand through operating companies in Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, Peru and Chile.

NII provides services in the major business centers and related transportation corridors in Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, Peru and Chile based on iDEN® (integrated Digital Enhanced Network) technology, developed by Motorola, which provides instant-access, low-latency, high-quality service and dependable communications. The company's expertise in integrating instant two-way Push-to-Talk (PTT) communications with high-quality voice and data services has proven to be a true differentiator.

NII offers fully integrated wireless communications tools, including digital cellular voice services, data services, wireless Internet access and Nextel Direct Connect® and International Direct Connect^(SM) to approximately 11.2 million subscribers across the region.

NII is moving forward in the region by successfully growing its business and evolving to next generation platforms. NII has successfully launched its 3G network in Peru and Chile, offering mobile broadband and Push-to-Talk services. NII expects to commercially launch 3G services in Brazil and Mexico later this year to continue expanding on its added-value services and unmatched customer care.

NII has been widely recognized across all markets for excellent service, innovation and commitment to customers and communities; ideas which lay at the heart of the company's culture. NII Holdings is ranked in both the Fortune 500 and Barron's 500 lists of largest and most prestigious companies, and has also been named one of the best places to work among multinationals in Latin America by the Great Place to Work® Institute.

NII Holdings trades on the NASDAQ market under the symbol NIHD.
